

Community Internship Collaboration

Spring, 2017
Internship Posting

Organization name	Los Alamos History Museum
Mentor/Contact name	Judith Stauber, Museum Director
Address	PO Box 43, Los Alamos, NM 87544
Phone number	505-695-5254
E-mail address	Judith@losalamoshistory.org
Organization website	www.losalamoshistory.org
Describe your organization	The Los Alamos History Museum is supported and maintained by the Los Alamos Historical Society, which is also responsible for additional historical collections, document and photo archives, event, outreach and educational programming. Additionally, the Society is partnered with the Manhattan Project National Historic Park. The Los Alamos History Museum collects, preserves and shares the community's remarkable, complex history and global impact for present, future, local and world-wide audiences. Nestled in the heart of the community, the Los Alamos History Museum is housed in two original Los Alamos Ranch School buildings. Offering multiple perspectives, the story of Los Alamos is presented via both comfortable indoor and beautiful outdoor venues, living history performances, original buildings, historic objects, documents and photos, audio/video recordings of personal stories.
Internship title	Los Alamos Japan Project Intern
Specific days/hours (if applicable)	Flexible/TBD
What will the student learn from the internship?	Exhibit planning and design, event planning, communication skills, organizational skills, and time management.
What does your business need that a student intern can impact?	The new Los Alamos Japan Project is a historic initiative to build a bridge of understanding between Los Alamos, Hiroshima, and Nagasaki. An intern will help bring input and new perspectives to our program planning for spring 2017 and beyond.
What project(s) will the intern work on?	LAMP projects to take place in 2017: Plan and curate an exhibit about Japanese museum perspectives, launch a community-wide origami crane project, support logistics for two lecture programs with Japanese guest speakers in March and April, participate in the Atomic Film Festival screenings in Fuller Lodge. In addition we will be planning future programs for 2018 and beyond.
What skills are required for this internship?	Good communication skills, personal accountability and reliability. Knowledge and interest in Japanese history and language a plus.
What final deliverables will the student produce?	Exhibit text research and writing. Outreach for origami crane project. Public relations and writing for Japanese guest speakers programs.

How would you describe the primary purpose of this project? (Select one)	Marketing/Communications Project Management
If "Other", please specify	Click here to enter text.
Any additional information you would like to share?	Los Alamos History Museum is a dynamic, flexible, and fun place to work!