The University of New Mexico-Los Alamos (UNM-LA) has long been an integral part of northern New Mexico. Our student population reflects the unique ethnic, cultural and socioeconomic diversity of the region. As a branch campus of the University of New Mexico, we continuously respond to community educational needs, while serving as a positive, productive force in the region.

In addition to our central location in Los Alamos, we have off-site locations in Alcalde, Bernalillo, Cuba, and Jemez Springs. We also offer educational services at a number of pueblos, including Sandia and Jemez. UNM-Los Alamos also has dual enrollment agreements with Bernalillo, Cuba, Jemez Valley, Los Alamos, McCurdy, Mesa Vista, Pojoaque, Pajarito and Rio Rancho school districts that allow eligible high school juniors and seniors to take college level courses.

UNM-Los Alamos is a Hispanic-serving institution (HIS), with 40% of its students self-identifying as Hispanic. In Fall 2004, 5% of the UNM-LA student body self-identified as Native American.
