PROFESSOR AND AUTHOR DR. ANTON TREUER

Dr. Anton Treuer, a member of the White Earth Ojibwe Nation, is a professor of Ojibwe at Bemidji State University and a prolific author whose work centers on Indigenous language, history, and cultural revitalization. He earned his BA and MA from Princeton University and his PhD from the University of Minnesota, and he continues to lead efforts in Ojibwe language education and equity across the globe. You can find authorized information about him at antontreuer.com. For our interview, I wanted to find out what he does when he is not teaching, writing, or promoting his books.

When his children were young, Dr. Treuer says, “We had pretty much every type of pet imaginable. Now that only one of our kids lives at home, we’re down to one cat named ‘Ebenezer.’” He likes having animals around, but he spends so much time traveling that it is hard to maintain a complete menagerie.

Dr. Treuer lives in Northern Minnesota, where they have snow on the ground five months of the year. He sees hunting as his preferred cold-weather outdoor activity. His preferred quarry is white-tailed deer, but he also pursues small game like rough grouse and rabbits. He hunts with rifles and bows. “People here mostly hunt with rifles. I am pretty much the only serious bow hunter up here,” Dr. Treuer tells us.

Living in a wintry climate, Dr. Treuer participates in numerous cold-weather activities like hockey and skiing. Dr. Treuer says, “I am really learning to enjoy cross-country skiing.”

Dr. Treuer listens to different styles of music, depending on the context. He enjoys singing, particularly during ceremonies.

Dr. Treuer looks forward to visiting Los Alamos, and he hopes that his visit will help inspire cooperation. He says, “New Mexico is a state where you see a lot of brown faces. Sometimes, those faces experience hyper-visibility. Something they experience the opposite: invisibility. I want to give people tools so they can learn how to get along with each other.”

Be sure to attend his events on November 12. The UNM-LA student event is at 2:15 pm in Wallace Hall, and his public presentation is at 7:00 pm in Duane Smith Auditorium.

Dr. Treuer participated in the Ojibwe dubbing of Star Wars.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT PROFILE: JACQUELINE BARTHOLOMEW

Student Services would like to introduce your student government representative, Jacqueline Bartholomew.

Jacqueline is from Los Alamos, and she attended Los Alamos Public Schools since fifth grade. She is still connected to the public schools, working with pre-school children at a White Rock elementary school. She enjoys children so much that she intends to work with them for the rest of her life. Her favorite part of her job is helping them with art projects.

Jacqueline plans to study philosophy and psychology at UNM, then apply to medical school. She hopes for a career in pediatrics or child psychology.

Jacqueline's hobbies include music, art, and writing. She has played piano since she was four. Her art interests are varied, and she is eager to try any artistic medium. She writes stories, but her true love is poetry, and she specializes in following classical verse forms. Her writing has not been published yet, but she hopes to see it in print eventually.

Jacqueline also enjoys reading. Her favorite authors are Edgar Allen Poe and Plato.

Please thank Jacqueline for her service to UNM-LA Student Government when you see her on campus.

Admissions

The Office of Admissions can help if you have questions or are ready to apply to UNM-Los Alamos. The Office of Admissions can provide application instructions for degree-seeking, non-degree, dual credit/concurrent, international, senior, or transfer students. Complete details can be found on the Admissions page: losalamos.unm.edu/admissions.

Financial Aid

The Office of Financial Aid provides information on financial resources available to degree-seeking students. These resources may include scholarships, grants, and loans from the federal or state government, independent organizations, and/or UNM-LA itself. UNM-LA determines financial aid eligibility from the FAFSA, so please take time to file this document online every year. Don't assume you are ineligible—there are many opportunities to pursue.

Enrollment Services

The Office of Enrollment Services at UNM-LA processes high school and other college transcripts of current and former students. The registrar can also answer questions about dual credit and concurrent enrollment, VA benefits, and graduation requirements.

Academic Advising & Student Success

Academic advisors can provide guidance through the admission process, degree and course selection, and registration. Advisors also assist with changing a major, following up instructors' early alerts, filing graduation petitions, and planning for baccalaureate work. Advisors can also help resolve registration errors. Degree-seeking students must meet with an advisor before registering for each semester to check that their chosen classes will continue to make progress toward their degrees and to have their advising hold lifted. The Student Success Manager coordinates ADA accommodation services for students, and oversees academic advisement, student retention, and success initiatives.

Career Services

Student Services offers career services to assist students with self-exploration, selecting a major, and opportunities for gaining experience in their chosen fields. Career services also include resume reviews, internship connections, job fairs, quantifying or translating skills, sharing job postings, and building connections between employers and our students.
